

Senator Wicks Gains Favor for No. 2 Spot, Republican Ticket

Senate Majority Leader Is Mentioned Prominently in Lineup Shift in Which Governor Dewey Yields to Party 'Draft'

Governor Dewey's decision to run for a third term spurred Republican leaders today to draft the rest of his "team," with a lineup shift in which Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston figures prominently.

The Senate majority leader and chairman of the Republican party in Ulster county, who will keynote the G.O.P. convention at Saratoga Wednesday, is among those mentioned for the nomination of lieutenant governor, the post now held by Joe R. Hanley of Perry.

Dewey, yielding to a party "draft" demanded because of the international crisis, personally urged Hanley to become the candidate for U. S. senator.

Democrats Fight Over Nominee for Governor's Post

Four of New York Leaders Desire Lynch, but O'Connell Says He's for Ewing

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—A knockdown fight for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination raged today and threatened to reach the floor of the state convention, which opens here tomorrow.

Four of New York city's five leaders and State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick agreed on Rep. Walter A. Lynch of the Bronx for the nomination.

But Lynch appeared far from in. Daniel P. O'Connell, Albany Democratic leader, announced he was for Oscar Ewing of the Bronx, federal security administrator.

From New York came word that James A. Roe, Queens Democratic leader, was determined to place in nomination Associate Judge Charles W. Frossell of the Court of Appeals, a Queens resident.

New York city and upstate leaders will meet with Fitzpatrick here tonight. At that session an attempt will be made to harmonize the sharp cleavages within the party over the gubernatorial candidate.

Lynch was recommended by leaders Edward C. Flynn of the Bronx, Carmine C. De Sapio of Manhattan, Francis J. Sinner of Brooklyn and Jeremiah A. Sullivan of Richmond.

Agree on Pecora
The New York city leaders have agreed on Justice Ferdinand Pecora of the State Supreme Court as the Democratic choice for mayor of New York.

Pecora is an Episcopalian of Italian extraction. With Flynn backing, Lynch, it was reported by New York city sources here, that Ewing's chances appeared thinner than those of Frossell.

The nomination of Frossell or Ewing could be achieved by a coalition of Queens and the upstate Democratic delegates.

By the same token, the four New York city counties, whose leaders have pledged their support to Lynch, can muster from these counties only 372 of the 837 delegate votes. They need 419 votes to nominate their candidate.

Update leaders felt the decision to Governor Dewey to accept Republican renomination made it imperative for the Democrats to select the strongest candidate possible, regardless of race or creed. Many of these leaders are reported to regard Lynch as relatively weak. He is not known upstate and, according to some observers, he is a comparatively obscure figure on the New York city political scene.

May Be Dark Horse
The name of James A. Farley, former state and national Democratic chairman, was heard frequently here today as a dark horse possibility for the gubernatorial nomination.

The affiliated young Democrats of New York state endorsed Farley last night and urged that he be drafted.

However, Farley is reported unacceptable to Fitzpatrick and Flynn, presumably for fear the control they wield over the party would vanish or diminish greatly if he were elected governor.

Fitzpatrick declined to say whether he himself was available for the nomination.

The rest of the state ticket, except for the U. S. Senate nomination, has not been discussed seriously as yet. Sen. Herbert H. Lehman is expected to be nominated for a full six-year term.

Army Will Draft 70,000 in November

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Army today asked for a draft of 70,000 men during November.

This raised the total draft call to date to 170,000, all for the Army. In earlier calls the Army asked for 50,000 men in September and 50,000 in October.

The Defense Department said today the Navy and the Air Force do not plan to ask for draftees in November. Both services have been building up their manpower with volunteers and by the recall of reserves.

Firemen Rescue Man From Fire in Local Apartment

Stephen Herdica Overcome Partially by Smoke; Wife Found Safe After Search

Stephen Herdica, who was partially overcome by smoke during a fire which damaged his kitchen, was rescued by firemen from his third-floor apartment at 47 East Union street Saturday night.

Flames which flashed from an oil stove and ignited a window shade spread to other parts of the room, firemen said.

Mary Louis Stevenson, 58 Meadow street, saw the flames and notified the fire department at 8:28 p. m.

Firemen Albert Hutton and Clarence Mainer led Herdica from the living room of the house where he was found partially overcome by smoke. They were assisted by Fireman Clarence Barber, and Robert Stone, a volunteer fireman.

It was first thought that Mrs. Herdica was also trapped in the apartment, but after firemen searched all rooms, it was learned that she was at a movie theatre.

The kitchen was damaged by fire and water and some damage was caused by smoke on other parts of the third floor. Two lines of hose were used in quenching the blaze. Equipment from Central and Cornell stations answered the call.

An alarm at 8:14 a. m. Sunday was for a burning wire on Greenkill avenue and a false alarm was sounded at 9:03 p. m. from a box at Wilbur avenue and Abel street.

Newburgh Man Dies After Fall From Cliff

John J. Barley of 343 1/2 Broadway, Newburgh, who was in an automobile accident on the New Paltz-Highland road, August 24, died Saturday at the Kingston Hospital.

According to State Police of the Highland station, he suffered injuries to his chest and a broken left arm and injuries to his left side.

Barley, they said, was a passenger in a 1936 sedan that left the east side of the pavement, struck a tree in the Ada DuBois orchard, and then overturned.

Glaring headlights caused the driver, James Barley, 28, of Newburgh to lose control of the car, according to the police. He was traveling in a southerly direction.

Injuries were suffered by two other persons, the troopers reported. Laving Wood, 14 Center street, Walden, had lacerations of the forehead, which required approximately 20 stitches at the Kingston Hospital, Roy Every, 18, Orange Lake, was injured but left the scene of the accident shortly after the mishap.

Tokyo, Sept. 5 (AP)—Red Koreans cracked the northeastern arm of the 120-mile warfront tonight and threatened all Allied forces dug in the mud on the north.

A.P. Correspondent Ben Price reported at 8 p. m. (5 a. m. E.S.T.) the break in the center of the Allied right flank near the Korean east coast had developed into a dangerously fluid threat that could force withdrawal of the whole northern front.

Price said Allied troops were digging in high ground about 2 1/2 miles north of the important road junction of Kyongju on the coastal road from Pohang Port to Pusan, main allied harbor on the southeastern tip of the peninsula.

Formal Notice Is Given to U. N. and Council After Incident With Naval Vessels

Security Council Session Expected to Turn to Matter

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The United States declared today that a bomber marked with the red star of Russia was shot down after attacking United Nations naval forces off Korea.

In an unusual flurry of post-midnight activity, the State Department called the incident to the attention of the U. N., under whose flag U. S. and other forces are fighting off the Communist invasion of South Korea.

It was the first time this government has charged direct Russian participation in the fighting around Korea.

The State Department said one body had been recovered from the downed bomber and that it had been identified from papers as a lieutenant in the Soviet armed forces.

Formal notification was immediately handed to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie and to Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain, the month's Security Council president.

The department located the incident "approximately" at the 38th parallel, which is the boundary between North and South Korea. The bird announcement did not pinpoint the action above or below that parallel.

Went on West Coast
Thus there was the indication whether the shooting took place in waters which the Communists regard as their own. It was on the west coast, which borders on the Yellow Sea south of Communist Manchuria and east of Red China.

The State Department said the bomber "identified only by bearing and star" passed over one of the outer ships in a U. N. formation and headed toward the center "in a hostile manner."

"The bomber opened fire upon a United Nations fighter patrol which returned its fire and shot it down," the State Department said.

"A United Nations destroyer succeeded in picking up the body of one member of the bomber crew. Identification papers indicate that the body was that of Lieut. Michon Tennard Vassiloff of the armed forces of the U. S. S. R. (No. 25464)."

U. S. downed bombers carrying a crew of from four to seven men.

Ulster Delegates Leave For GOP State Convention

Ulster county's delegates and alternates to the Republican State Convention left today for the two-day session at Saratoga, where Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city will be the keynote speaker.

The delegates had their work cut out for them, since Governor Dewey's acceptance of a third term nomination, but as far as the rest of the ticket goes the race for other posts was wide open.

Wicks, majority leader of the state senate, and chairman of the Ulster County Republican party, heads the local delegation.

The other delegates, elected at the primaries held in August, are: Vincent G. Connelly, assistant district attorney and city chairman of the G.O.P.

Robert A. Snyder, Saugerties, clerk of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Highland.

More Than 500 Are Killed In Nation Over Holiday

(By The Associated Press)
More than 500 persons were killed in violent accidents over the Labor Day holiday—one of the biggest tolls on record.

Traffic fatalities were under the predicted total, but as usual, the heaviest toll was in motor mishaps.

A nation-wide survey showed 512 killed in accidents from 6 p. m. (local time) Friday to last midnight—a period of 78 hours. This figure was under the record breaking toll of 530 on last Labor Day, but above the previous high record of 428 in 1947.

Of the total, 359 were killed in traffic accidents. The National Safety Council, in a preliminary statement, estimated the highway toll would be 435 unless motorists used extreme caution. The highways were jammed with millions taking trips on the last long weekend of the summer. The traffic toll last Labor Day was a record 410.

Sixty-five persons drowned and 88 others lost their lives in accidents of miscellaneous nature—including airplane crashes, fires, falls, etc. A plane crash at Utica, N. Y., and a train wreck near Milwaukee were the worst acidents. Thirteen died in the crash of a DC-3 airliner in a pasture near Utica yesterday. Nine were killed Saturday in the train accident near Milwaukee.

Heaviest tolls were in New York, Texas, California, Wisconsin and Illinois. In Connecticut, where special holiday law enforcement and educational programs have been carried on to avert highway tragedies during the week-end rush, no fatalities were reported. Massachusetts, conducting similar programs, reported three highway deaths. Other states which reported no traffic fatalities were Delaware, Maine and South Dakota.

Fred Albright Is Fined on Policy, Conduct Charges

Fred Albright, 24, of 32 Ravine street, who was arrested Saturday on charges of disorderly conduct and for "having a book of policy slips in his possession," was fined $35 when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino Monday.

The arrest followed a report to the police at 6:40 p. m. Saturday by George Schroeder of the W. N. Conner ambulance service, who said he had answered a call to Wilbur avenue and had taken a man to the Benedictine Hospital.

The man, the report said, was "out across a wrist" and was bleeding badly. Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., investigated and said the man was Fred Albright.

It was first claimed, the report said, that Albright had fallen on a bottle, but later information indicated that he had cut himself with a razor. The wound required 15 stitches, the report said.

The police report at 7:14 p. m. said Officer Burger requested a patrol car and Officer Thomas Tomahaw and Special Officer Ralph Countryman were dispatched to Wilbur avenue where Albright was arrested on the disorderly conduct charge. The arrest on the policy charge was made at police headquarters.

Judge Mino imposed a fine of $25 on the policy charge and $10 for disorderly conduct.

Reds Crack Flank Hurricane Hits Florida Mainland, Threatens Cities

said Allied troops were preparing to defend high ground west of the Kyongju-Pohang highway linking northern front forces with Taegu, major base in the northwest corner of the Allied defense perimeter.

A U. S. 8th Army communiqué at 7 p. m. (4 a. m. E.S.T.) said the North Korean breakthrough was wide and by a force of unknown strength.

The communiqué said the main penetrations were at Kigye, nine miles northwest of Pohang, and across the Pohang-Yongchon road, which connects Taegu with the east coast.

On other fronts Allied troops held or advanced and took a heavy toll of the North Koreans.

A slashing rain blotted out normal allied air support of ground troops along the winding battle-line which runs from the east coast westward 45 miles to Wagon and then turns south to the coast.

Twelve miles north of Taegu the U. S. 1st Cavalry Division pulled out of a walled hill-top citadel near Tabu under North Korean fire.

U. S. Marines and the 2nd Infantry Division assaulted. No-named ridge 32 miles directly south of Taegu.

On the extreme south anchor of the long battle-line the U. S. 25th Division chewed up what was called a sizeable force of Reds trapped west of Masan, port city 27 airline miles west of Pusan.

The eastern sector of fighting was called a serious threat to Taegu by a Tokyo spokesman for General MacArthur.

In that bitter struggle, an integral part of the five-day drive on all fronts, American and South Korean troops attacked Angang, a no-man's-land south of Pohang, main allied East coast port above Pusan.

Deeper Into Lines

The Reds were deeper into the Allied perimeter than they had been able to penetrate before. They have cut the Pohang-Taegu highway in force.

General MacArthur's summary said regrouped defensive forces had been unable to stop the advance.

The North Koreans' 5th, 12th and 15th Divisions, supported by some auxiliary units, have been poured into this renewed eastern assault. They are meeting three battle-weary South Korean divisions—the 8th, 3rd and Capital—battered by elements of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division.

The Americans used their new 47-ton Patton tanks in the east-west campaign where the Reds have used an undetermined number of Russian-made tanks.

During Tuesday's fighting a South Korean spokesman reported that South Korean naval units sank 20 Communist transport vessels off Pohang today. He did not give the size of the vessels or say whether they were Red troops.

But an intelligence spokesman in Tokyo said the Reds on the east coast seemed to be getting more supplies than were evident in other sectors.

est reported development in the Korean action would broaden the council's consideration of the question.

It was not expected, however, that there would be any general immediate reaction from among other delegations who undoubtedly would await instructions from their home governments.

The United States message is the first official suggestion of direct Russian participation in the Korean conflict.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 5 (AP)—The screaming winds of a tropical hurricane bore down on mainland cities today, toppling trees and sending residents scurrying for storm shelters as its center crossed the coastline from the Gulf of Mexico at Clear Keys, 52 miles southwest of Gainesville.

Heaviest winds reported were 75 to 80 miles an hour at Cedar Key, where the storm started inland.

Four hours later, however, Ocala, about 40 miles inland, reported only 32 miles wind, with gusts up to 38 miles. Gainesville, 50 miles northeast of Cedar Key, had even less wind.

Between those cities and Cedar Key lay a sparsely settled woodland from which no reports of the storm's progress could be obtained.

Dunellon, a citrus packing town 15 miles inland had gale winds with some trees falling and most residents sheltered in the city hall and a school.

The erratic storm left a 50-mile stretch of resort coastline damaged and soggy.

Tides from six and a half to eight feet above normal swept the pretty resort area from Clearwater to Sarasota, washing out roads, toppling a beechfront houses, sinking a few small boats, putting a tug into distress and piling sea water like lakes around homes and hotels.

Bungalow Burns Near Olive Bridge

A summer bungalow owned by Harold Johnson on Route 213 just outside Olive Bridge, was destroyed Saturday night by a flash fire which is believed to have started when an oil stove exploded. Chief Albert Fox of the Olive Fire Department reported. Tardy notification of the blaze, it was said, prevented the firemen from Olive Bridge and Shokan from saving the bungalow but they were able to save an adjoining building and a water system at the Johnson property.

The loss was placed at about $1,500 on the property and contents. William Casey, an insurance agent working out of Tarrytown, said he lost his wallet with a considerable sum of money as well as all his personal belongings.

Johnson had left the house to go to the store about 8 o'clock when he was notified by people at the store that his bungalow was on fire. Firemen on arrival at the fire were unable to cope with the flames which had gained headway. Three booster tanks of water were used to protect the adjoining buildings and the water system.

The nearest water for pumping was 2,000 feet away. In addition to Chief Fox, Assistant Chief Trowbridge and Captain Lester Lawrence of Shokan were at the fire.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—The stock market showed a half-hearted inclination to advance today.

Some stocks—such as Chrysler, Radio Corp. and Columbia Broadcasting—responded to news directly affecting them. All in all, though investors and speculators were content to take it easy.

Higher prices were paid for Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Admiral Corp., Columbia Broadcasting, "B," American Smelting, duPont, American Tobacco, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil (N.J.) and U. S. Gypsum.

A big buyer was Goodrich Radio Corp., Columbia Broadcasting "A," American Telephone, Phelps Dodge Copper, International Paper, Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, and Certain-Teed.

Railway issues attracted mild support in the bond market. U. S. governments held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Lifted in the curb were Brazilian Traction, Cessna Aircraft, Goebel, Louisiana Land, Waltham Watch, and Panoctual Oil. United Shoe Machinery fell back, along with Electric Bond & Share, Fairchild Engine, Imperial Oil and National Fuel Gas.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

As one tries to interpret the news this week he comes up with the thought that a number of critical events seem likely to come to a head shortly.

The Korean War, for one, has turned in favor of the United Nations (and United States) and the crucial decision may not be postponed as long as previously expected. The Ruminator heard a most interesting interpretation of the MacArthur strategy from an acquaintance last week.

This is reported to you as simply a second-hand story which, however, claimed to be "straight from Tokyo." Recognizing the shortage of man-power and fighting equipment when the war opened, the strategy planned was to withdraw gradually southward into "a tight little area" near Pusan. When the perimeter had become small enough to be completely controlled by United Nations' forces, the tactics then would call for "cutting the North Koreans to pieces" while at the same time our forces infiltrated and surrounded the enemy. In this manner, opposition would be curtailed to such an extent that when the MacArthur counter-offensive commenced in earnest there would be relatively little difficulty in pushing back to the 38th parallel (or beyond, as decided upon politically).

The foregoing is an interesting speculation—and only a speculation, of course, insofar as the Ruminator is personally concerned—and events to come in the next few weeks will be informative to watch and see how close this reported strategy proves out.

In any event, the decision in Korea will not be long postponed. No western nation can much longer put off, or stall.

It has reached a point, as we used to say in school, to either pull up or shut up.

The Ruminator happens to be of the "pull-up" school and believes that the United States should go all-out NOW for complete mobilization. True, we might find ourselves armed to the teeth and no one to fight—but that is better than to be unarmed and forced to fight, indeed, by complete mobilization the United States could become the Boss in place of Russia. The time has come when we probably must be aggressive for peace, and many experts now admit it. Although Secretary A. Matthews admitted last night that in voicing such an outright opinion, considering his official position (I can't help but feel however that both Matthews and MacArthur's punctilious comments while temporarily "backward," will force a more realistic meeting of minds and decisions in the weeks ahead. If you will read the lead article in this week's Saturday Evening Post by the Alsop brothers you will get a straight-forward, documented report on where we stand and how solemn is the outlook.

We simply cannot dodge longer, so it is that the close weeks ahead should be observed with special thoughtfulness. Decisions and policies are going to be forced upon us, whether we like it or not.

A second significant event that is in the thing is the Foreign Ministers' meeting in New York, starting September 12. At this meeting great decisions will also be attempted. Whether to stop at the 38th parallel, if the United Nations succeed in launching a successful counter-offensive; what to do about Formosa in view of President Truman's policy that it is a UN problem and General MacArthur's stand that Formosa must be considered a protectorate. For East Asia for the United States. The Korean tangle is further twisted by Secretary Matthews' talk of "aggressive peace." It is evident that the Foreign Ministers will be put to it to clarify the anti-Russian political and diplomatic situation when you stop to consider that Secretary Acheson has been seriously "weakened" as the voice of America, that Prime Minister Attlee has lost strength in Great Britain and is presently under attack by Churchill, and that France seems not to have any well-defined policy on several world problems.

A third question to "stump the experts" is the resumption of Germany and the general defense program of western Europe.

The present outlook for this important meeting of the heads of state, the only one of any consequence except in this respect, conditions have reached such a dismal crisis that some solution is imperative. The optimism that we may have based on the old, worn-out saying that "it is always darkest before dawn." This is seriously realistic thinking, but it is true that the current foreign survey policies simply cannot persist. A definite stand, a decisive policy and strong arm, must be formulated soon by the western powers or we face collapse.

Chamber to Start Program for Fall

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce starts the fall season of activities with several important meetings. Tonight the public and transportation committee meets at the chamber office, with a new chairman, Ervin Alward, who was appointed chairman by President Robert E. Tretsel to succeed Walter Adams who moved from Kingston. Wednesday night a special meeting of the executive committee will take place at which several new features for the 1950-51 program will be considered and plans made for the meeting of the board of directors on September 12.

President Tretsel stated that the possibility of including several new features in the 1950-51 program will be given serious consideration. "The officers and committee would welcome any and all suggestions as to activities or community problems which should be attacked by the Chamber of Commerce," Tretsel continued. Only by active participation of its members can the Chamber increase its influence for community improvement.

Negro to Be Admitted

A three-judge Federal Court today denied the University of Virginia to admit a Negro applicant to its Graduate School of Law. The injunction, granted in a proceeding that required only 30 minutes, covered not only Gregory Swanson, Martinsville attorney, but all Negroes "similarly situated" and applied to the university's entire Department of Law.

The winner may earn as much as $50,000 during the year as Miss America.

Boy, 3, Is Dead
Of Serious Burns;
Three Others Die

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Three-year-old Gabriel Johnson, one of 11 persons burned in a holiday tragedy, died shortly before midnight last night.

The little boy's death was the fourth that followed an explosion of cleaning solvent in a small Queens apartment late Sunday night.

Two other children and one adult were the other victims. Seven other persons are still in serious or critical condition at the Flushing and St. John's Hospitals, Queens. All those burned are Negroes.

The blast came at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Johnson, (30-47 77th Terrace), in Jackson Heights, Queens.

The Johnsons had just rented an apartment in a veterans housing project and their friends had gathered to help them clean and paint it over the week-end.

One of the guests was using benzene to wipe paint spots off the bathroom floor when, police surmised, a pilot light touched off the explosive vapors from nearly two gallons of the solvent.

Two other dead were Mrs. Cleo Shelton, 23, her daughter, Beverly, two, and Fred Rillman, 12.

Postwar Europe

(The following is one of a series of letters from a former resident of this area, who has returned to Europe for an extended stay and gives his impressions of postwar Europe, as seen through the eyes of a civilian going back to the scenes he knew as a soldier during the war.)

AMSTERDAM

Looking for all the world like the futuristic design on an Old Dutch plate, Amsterdam is the very heart of modern Holland.

The city has been largely rebuilt since the war, as whole sections of this vast metropolis were leveled in some of the worst air raids. A sample of what has been done is the reconstruction from scratch of Schiphol Airport.

The Germans completely destroyed this air terminal, which once ranked as one of Europe's finest. But with typical Dutch courage, the Netherlands rolled up their sleeves and began rebuilding the airport from its gutted ruins right after the close of the war.

Schiphol stands as a model of a modern concrete and glass monument to engineering genius. Its futuristic ramps and main terminal buildings are as modern as tomorrow.

Shops selling native-made goods line the main reception rooms and over customs inspections of international air travelers have been greatly facilitated by the use of new improved corridors and baggage counters. Everyday, planes from such faraway places as Karachi, Curacao, Johannesburg and the Dutch East Indies alight on the wide cross-roads of the interlocking runways of the big airport, and you can watch the skyliners like big birds in flight arriving or departing, as you have lunch in the glass-enclosed skytop restaurant.

Amsterdam has been called by some the Venice of the North because of its many canals which turn the city into a network of streets, lined by bridges and old Dutch step-gable houses, many of them dating back several centuries. The best way to see the whole of this large, rambling city is to take a water tram ride up and down the interesting old canals, and thus cover the vast harbor, which handles some of the largest cargo tonnage of ships coming in from all over the world, flying the flags of many nations. As you pass by the busy docks, you can spot liners and freighters unloading cargo, or getting up steam for sailing.

On this side you'll see a trim Dutch vessel headed for Cape Town, South Africa; on the other will be a freighter with its winches busily working unloading a rich cargo of rubber from the Dutch West Indies and its name on the stern indicates the ship's home port is Sumatra.

Along the modern railroad station is centrally located in Amsterdam alongside the waterfront and in the heart of town, and a giant structure it is too, looking very much like an exhibition feature of a world's fair.

Many of the people here speak English and are friendly to foreigners, which is not surprising when you consider that Holland has for many centuries engaged in English trade across the channel. Hollanders still remember the many American troops that passed through during the war, and it's common to hear some American slang thrown into a conversation, or to hear American jazz records blaring from the neon-lit cafes in the narrow winding streets that branch out from the main street.

While many of the traditional windmills have become a thing of the past around modern Amsterdam, some of the old Dutch scenery can be still seen along the dikes, that always remind the visitor of Holland's perennial battle against the sea. As you visit the Cheese Market at Alkmaar or go down to the fishing villages like Volendam, you'll still find the people in traditional colorful folk costumes that have not changed essentially in 300 years.

Sincerely,

JOHN W. SWEENEY

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

BLINDMAN'S BLUFF
Last night, in a mood for malt and malarkey, I stopped in to chin with Sammy Fuchs, proprietor of the Bowery Follies and honorary mayor of that unwashed neck of the Manhattan woods.

"What's new and gruesome in your balmywick?" I asked mine host.

"Nothing much," said Sammy, "except that Fakie Kennedy died last week and left his eyes to a bartender down the block."

"Come again?" I said.

According to Sammy, the Fakie was a professional blind man who had been rattling a tin cup on the Bowery for as long as he could remember. In spite of his calling, however, it was a standing joke around the flophouse that the cane-tapper could shoot off a bug's ear at a hundred paces.

"We used to kid Kennedy about his blindness," said Sammy, "but he never let on it was an act—if it was an act. And we were never sure because no one ever saw the old coot without his smoked glasses."

"Down at Gargan's Bar where the Fakie used to hang out after hours," Sammy continued, "the proprietor had a kind of running gag at the bum's expense."

"When you die," he used to say, "will me your eyes. Mine are gettin' pretty tired from lookin' at the sawdust."

"I'll leave 'em to ya, Gargan," was the Fakie's stock answer. "And they'll come in handy if ya ever want to play marbles."

"That's about how the talk went until one night not long ago."

when a couple of stick-up men walked into Gargan's and lined the customers up against the wall—all except the Fakie who didn't budge from his usual place at the end of the bar.

"After the punks had cleaned out the register and what little was in the customers' pockets, one of them walked up to the Fakie and jabbed a gun in his ribs."

"You wouldn't take pennies from a blind man, would ya?" said Kennedy.

"Don't gimme that pennies stuff," said the thug. "You guys always got a roll on ya."

The Fakie made out as if he was fumbling in his pockets, and then suddenly made a grab for the gun, yanked it away from the hood and bopped him over the head with it. Then, using the body as a sort of shield, he pointed the gun at the other punk.

"Drop yer pistol," he said, "or I'll shoot the cigar outta yer mouth."

"Well, it so happened the thug did have a cigar in his mouth, and when he heard the blind man's on-the-button reference to it he got panicky and dropped his gun. A dozen guys jumped him, and a few minutes later he and his pal were in the precinct house."

"After that, of course, everybody on the Bowery was sure the Fakie was a fake, but he never owned up. They got me all wrong," he once told me. "The stick-up guy was smokin' an Italian stogie and ya can smell them things a block away. And I guessed it was in his mouth by the way he talked."

"A couple of weeks ago," Sammy went on, "Fakie Kennedy got pneumonia, and the day after his body was carted off to Potter's Field a package showed up in Gargan's mail with a pair of glass eyes."

"Sounds like the old man was telling the truth after all I said."

"Nobody is convinced, one way or the other," said the Mayor of the Bowery. "Maybe the eyes came out of the Fakie's head, and then again maybe he picked them up in a hockshop. You know, you never can tell about these cucks—no one might have wanted to play the gag out to the end."

A.L.P. Endorses State Tickets

New York, Sept. 5. (AP)—The left-wing American Labor Party, which several times has endorsed Democratic state tickets in New York, has picked complete state and city tickets of its own for the November 7 election.

The ticket, scheduled to be nominated formally tomorrow, includes Newspaperman John T. McManus for governor.

Rep. Victor Marcantonio, State A.L.P. chairman, announced the selections yesterday. Entry of State candidates by the A.L.P., which has about 200,000 enrolled voters, means that the Democratic nominees will lose some votes that otherwise would go to them.

McManus, former president of the New York Newspaper Guild, has worked on daily newspapers and is founder and general manager of the National Guardian, a New York city weekly publication.

Among others on the ticket are: U. S. Senator—W. E. B. DuBois, 82-year-old negro anthropologist and chairman of the Peace Information Center.

Mayor—Paul L. Ross, one-time administration secretary to former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Lieutenant Governor—Dr. Clementina J. Paolone, a practicing physician in New York city.

State Comptroller—Michael A. Jiminez, an A.L.P. leader in the Rome-Elizabethton area.

Attorney General—Leo J. Linder, lawyer and chairman of the A.L.P. in Brooklyn.

British Display 58 New Aircraft

Farnborough, Eng., Sept. 5. (AP)—Britain showed off 58 of her newest aircraft today before foreign aviation experts. Representatives of Soviet Russia and other Communist nations were conspicuously absent.

It was a preview of the annual show of the British Society of Aircraft Constructors, which opens tomorrow for a five-day run at historic Farnborough Airport.

Society spokesmen said they sent invitations for today's preview to diplomats and military and civil aviation leaders of more than 50 nations. But none went to Russia or her friends behind the Iron Curtain "because of the international situation."

"The Communists can come if they wish," one spokesman said. "But only on the two public days of the show, and then only by buying tickets like anyone else."

This is the first time the Soviet group has not been included in the society's invitation list. A year ago uniformed Russian officers inspected all exhibits with obvious interest.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

According to the August 25th Freeman, through the cooperation of Earl H. Newberry, of Chilton, Newberry and Co. and the Kingston Chamber of Commerce plans are being made to welcome the International Glidden Tour which should pass through Kingston, Saturday, September 9.

There will be some 30 to 40 of these colorful little autos, some 40 years old, which can be seen when they will park at Broglio's in West Park at noon, while their owners, in garbs of goggles, dusters, bonnets and parasols of the gay early 1900's will partake of their noon-day meal. I do hope when they go over the Rondout Creek Bridge, they will take a right turn so that lower Broadway and especially the children of downtown will be able to see this parade.

The Esquire magazine of June 1950 had some 14 pages covering the Automobile Show and two pages completely devoted to colorful photographs of the International Glidden Tour of 1950 which will pass through Kingston this year.

It was started in 1930 by Charles J. Glidden, an ex-reporter and telephone pioneer. By 1903 he had covered some 46,528 miles in 39 countries, so decided to establish a trophy for an annual reliability run, in days when everyone didn't believe the auto was here to stay and used to yell out at the driver "Get a horse!"

The first Glidden Tour had some 34 cars on the road. It started from New York on July 11, 1905 with Hartford its first night's stop, a five-hour run on which the cars averaged 20 mph. From there the tour went through the White Mountains over the old carriage roads to Bretton Woods. It returned to New York after traveling 870 miles. En route, cars were judged on brake performance, weight-carrying and hill-climbing and the mechanical delays incurred. In 1907, the Automobile Club of Buffalo captured the cup where 4 out of the five winning cars were made there. In 1908, the Glidden Tour received so much newspaper publicity that people lined the streets for hours through all the cities the tour was expected. Then in 1910 autos came into their own, so the tour didn't attract so much attention but it continued until 1915 but then there were many cars on the road.

But in 1946 the first revival of the tour was held under the able leadership of James Melton, for by now the old car of the early 1900's was an "antique." Some 60 pre-1920 autos started for Albany, and headed for Buffalo and Detroit. Free gasoline was provided and with a tire service crew in attendance, nothing like the discomfort of years back. The tour sprouted up from the original expedition started by Charles J. Glidden in 1905 when the topless carriages waded through bottomless mud over nameless carriage roads.

This Antique Automobile Club of America collects and preserves early automobiles. Its some 1,200 members own about 3,000 cars ranging from an 1888 DeDion Bouton Motorcar to a 1929 du Pont Speedster. The new club organized in Philadelphia in 1935. It seems to be a member, one does not have to own an old car although some members own from one to 100 cars each. Many members just collect old radiator emblems, hub caps, lamps, license tags, photographs of cars. This club publishes its own magazines. Members and wives are also on the look out for proper clothes to wear on their annual Spring Meet and run to Atlantic City. To revive the days when each driver had to be a mechanic, and lug along the better part of a service station, for that was before Neon signs and drive-in stations and hamburger stands. Hope we all get a chance to see the famous International Glidden Tour when it comes through Kingston, it should be a great treat for the youngsters.

Red Demonstrator Taken in Tow

A Communist demonstrator holds his glasses in his teeth as two West Berlin policemen get a firm grip on his arms during a demonstration in front of the city hall Sept. 1. Police finally had to use high pressure water hoses to disperse the several hundred boisterous and shouting Communists. The demonstrators, Germans who live in the western sector but work in East Berlin for Red-controlled agencies, were protesting a recent western ban on their exchanging east mark earnings for west marks.

Certain Subjects Can Be Studied Under G.I. Ruling

Washington, Sept. 5. (AP)—The Veterans Administration ruled today that it's legitimate after all to study the roaring of bees, skunks, chickens, minks and rabbits under the G.I. Bill.

But it is legitimate only in areas where such specialized farming is commonly followed, the agency said.

V.A. liberalized the requirements that war veterans' farming ventures must meet to become eligible for on-farm training under the G.I. Bill.

In doing so it backed down from a regulation of last May which limited learn-while-you-farm training to veterans whose basic farming activity was tilling the soil.

Under the institutional on-farm training program a veteran may receive subsistence up to $65.50 a month for himself or up to $97.50 a month if he has several dependents. In most states a veteran may remain in training up to four years.

Hasbrouck Barn Burns at Modena

A fire of undetermined origin last night destroyed a barn containing hay and farm implements on the property of J. E. Hasbrouck, Route 32, north of Modena. The fire occurred at 7:30 p. m.

The barn, about 50 by 20 feet, was of frame construction. The Modena Fire Department was called and prevented the flames from spreading to nearby buildings.

Hasbrouck said he had no idea of the exact value of the destroyed building, but added that it was fully insured.

As Pegler Sees It

confirm at last the fact that he had been a member of the Soviet's political agency. He was one of the ulterior clique which in 1948 put up Wallace for president and the political character of that crew has now been tacitly admitted by both Wallace and Eisenhower in announcing their dissociation from the so-called Progressive party. Wallace got out because he felt that in an issue of war between his country and Soviet Russia he had to stand by the United States. But still he couldn't bring himself to admit that he had knowledge of a single Communist in the party's membership.

Although Philip Murray has insisted that he never had any use for Communists in the C.I.O. Pressman was its chief counsel for several years, and the C.I.O. has never acknowledged any wrong which it wrought against the committee and other crusaders during years of infestation. Unions of the C.I.O. savagely attacked all such loyal Americans. They defended traitors within their ranks with equal fury.

Pressman named three others as members of his Communist cell established within the United States Government under Roosevelt. They are Nathan Witt, secretary of the Labor Relations Board during the fateful period when the fundamental relation between the American worker and his government and his union was reviled along Communist lines by that board; John J. Abt, another of Wallace's old assistants in the Department of Agriculture, and Charles Kramer, who also held positions of trust and power in Washington.

Pressman, Witt and Abt were members of the Vermont Red cell whose disclosure has been condemned as "sensational" journalism by pseudo-Republican Vermont papers. So was Abt's sister, Marion Bachrach.

To look backward, all disclosures of Communist permeation in the Roosevelt-Truman regime have brought down on the American loyalists charges of "witch-hunting" and "smearing." Congressman Richard Nixon, California, a candidate for the Senate, has suffered especially. The Empress Eleanor is going to campaign for his opponent, Congressman Helen Gahagan Douglas. Nixon has the records of both of them, but the Roosevelt theology is influential still notwithstanding the slaughter of American young men in Korea.

In Vermont, the Rutland Herald angrily inveighed against the "smearing" of Communists and of persons who gave reasons to be suspected.

Actually the smear has worked the other way. This is an excellent specimen from the Vox Pop of the same Rutland Herald against Mrs. Lucille Miller, an informant against communism in Vermont:

"Should this letter come to the attention of Mrs. Miller, I shall probably be accused of being a Communist and have my name included in her back-fence reports to the Hearst newspapers."

Nevertheless, I would like to register my disgust with everything Mrs. Miller stands for. She is obviously a candidate for the Bethel McCarthyship. Why any reasonable intelligent person would deliberately ignore political facts and use guilt by association and other less savory methods of attack on her fellow townpeople is beyond me.

Korea is bad enough but people like Mrs. Miller are only endangering our position in world affairs (it is as bad as that) by their accusations. Her tactics have been practiced for years by Communists, Fascists, the Ku Klux Klan and other hate groups.

Thus runs the abuse that patriotic citizens have had to endure throughout these years. (Copyright 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes show down kidney function. This may lead many folks to a mistaken plan of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness, getting up at night or frequent urination may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times they give happy relief when the 15 pills of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Yannotta Is Held On Assault Count

Millburn, N. J., Sept. 5. (AP)—Carmen F. Yannotta, captain of the host Summit softball team in the current mid-Atlantic championships is being held on an assault charge in the alleged rape of a visiting girl player.

Mrs. Georgia C. Grozni, 23, a member of the Fairbanks Farms team of Syracuse, N. Y., lodged the complaint Sunday. She said Yannotta, 26, and unmarried, had raped her in a parked car on Canoe Brook road, Millburn, after a Saturday party given by the host team, the C-C-Two Club of Summit.

"I've been raped! I've been raped!" she told Summit police tearfully.

Mrs. Grozni, who police say is separated from her husband, was listed on her team's roster as Georgia Campbell, a pitcher. She said Yannotta drove her back to her hotel, and that her teammates then accompanied her to police headquarters.

Mrs. Grozni was sent to Overlook Hospital for a medical examination. Later she posted $1,000 bond as a material witness and returned to her home in Syracuse.

Magistrate Harold W. Kahn ordered Yannotta held without bail pending grand jury action.

HOME BUREAU

News Writing School

Louis R. Netter, managing editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman, conducted a news-writing school for unit vice chairmen of the Ulster County Home Bureau at the municipal auditorium in Kingston Wednesday. The speaker opened the school by explaining what is essential to a good news story, following which the 21 officers present practiced writing a story and received his suggestions for improvement.

Mr. Netter was introduced by Mrs. William Douglas of Ellenville, county vice chairman of the Ulster County Home Bureau, who, in her introductory remarks, thanked the speaker and all the newspaper editors of the county for their generosity in publicizing home bureau activities.

At the morning session which preceded the news-writing school Mrs. Douglas discussed with the vice chairmen that other responsibilities of their office—the collection of memberships and unit and countywide exhibits. Plans were laid for each unit to have an exhibit of accomplishments at the countywide rally to be held the evening of October 16 at the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Those in attendance at the meeting were the Meses, Siegfried, Abraham, Kerhonkson, Ethan Allen, Milton, George Christensen, Yesserville, Claude Christensen, Tobiasco, Robert Compitello, Centerville, Edmund Davey, Lake Katrine, Carl Dedy, Lomontville, Finley Green, Plattekill, William Golden, Kingston II, Ernest Jansen, High Falls, Harry Kutschback, Woodstock, Albert Madden and William Martin, Ellenville; Otto Orlovski, Plattekill; Earl Schomaker, Plattekill; Edwin Schomaker, Woodstock; Edred Smith, Modena; Ernest Steuding, Kingston Day; Raymond Trumpait, Plank Road; Mrs. William Douglas, county vice chairman and Miss Everette Parsons, county home demonstration agent.

On Tuesday, August 29, 18 fair committee members and workers helped to make plans to take charge of the various Home Department exhibits at the Ulster County Fair, enjoyed a pot luck luncheon at Forsyth Park.

After the luncheon, Mrs. William Bowers, superintendent of Home Department, discussed plans for next year's exhibit with the group. Miss Everette Parsons, county home demonstration agent and Miss Helen Rowe, assistant county home demonstration agent were present.

Fair Street Church Readies Big Fair; Will Run Two Days

Among the new features of the annual fair to be held Thursday and Friday of this week at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Fair and Pearl streets, will be a plastic booth where articles in plastic will be on sale. With Christmas "just around the corner" many gifts suggestions will be found at the numerous booths. Women of the church have been busy for many weeks preparing for the annual fair, making fancy articles, fashioning interesting domestic articles or planning tasty dishes for the food booths.

Games and entertainment for old and young have been selected by "Art" Hutton and his committee and listed among the entertainment features will be many new items. During the day refreshments will be on sale at the refreshment stand on the grounds and on Thursday evening, beginning at 5:30 o'clock the ladies will serve a turkey and biscuit dinner in the church basement. Friday afternoon beginning at 3:30 o'clock there will be a cafeteria supper served in addition to the usual picnic refreshments on the lawn.

Arrangements have been completed for a merry-go-round again this year, to carry out the circus idea, and during the evening hours "clowns" will roam the grounds.

The fair will be open during the day as well as in the evening.

Bernard B. Stahl, Hartwick Graduate, Marries Mary E. McCabe in Oneonta

Miss Mary Elizabeth McCabe, daughter of Mrs. Julia McCabe, 351 Main street, Oneonta, became the bride Aug. 20, of Bernard B. Stahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stahl, 277 Flatbush avenue, Kingston, in St. Mary's Church, Oneonta.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Anthony Perrone. Traditional wedding music was played by James Keeton, church organist. The church was decorated with gladioli.

Given in marriage by her brother, Joseph McCabe, the bride wore a gown of nylon lace and net over satin, with a train. Her nylon veil was trimmed with orange blossoms and lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses. Mrs. Raymond Hogaboone of Howes Cave, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of orchid nylon lace and net over taffeta, styled after the bride's gown. She wore matching mitts and headpiece, and carried a nosegay of roses and asters.

The bridesmaids were Elizabeth and Shirley Powell of West Oneonta, cousins of the bride. They wore green and yellow gowns, respectively, also matching the bride's gown and carried nosegays of roses and asters.

Lola Jean Hogaboone of Howes Cave, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing white nylon lace and net over satin, a replica of the bride's gown. She carried a basket of sweet peas.

Best man was Harry Kaprelian of Kingston, a cousin of the groom, and ushers were William Martin of Syracuse and Albert Holbrook of Oneonta, fraternity brothers of the groom at Hartwick College, Oneonta.

About 150 guests attended the reception at the I.O.O.F. Hall after the ceremony. Decorations were green and white streamers and a white bell. The table was decorated with baskets of gladioli.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to Lake George and New York, the bride wearing a navy suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Stahl, a graduate of Oneonta High School and Mildred Elsey Business College, Albany, was employed by the Elmore Milling Co.

The groom, a graduate of Kingston High School and Hartwick College, served in the navy during World War II. He will teach at the Bolivar Central School. The couple will live in Bolivar.

Miss Agnes Perry, 37 Meadow street, was married Sunday, August 27, to Irving Brown, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brown, 63 Wrentham street, in a double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Church, with the Rev. Edward Farrelly officiating.

The church was decorated with white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her brother, Frank Perry, the bride wore a gown of satin with lace trimmed neckline and lace sleeves. She wore a crown of seed pearls, and carried white roses with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Bernard Dunnivan of Abiel street, sister of the bride, was matron of honor wearing ice blue satin and carrying pink roses.

Best man was the groom's brother, Edgar Brown, of 63 Wrentham street, and the ushers were John Bittner, 89 Broadway, brother-in-law of the bride, and George Brown, of East Chestnut street, brother of the groom.

Ronald Perry, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

After a reception at Jimmy's Tavern for 200 guests, the couple left for a wedding trip to New York, the bride wearing a powder blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of white roses. They will live at 43 Abruyn street.

The bride was graduated from St. Peter's School and the groom from Kingston High School.

India's Leaders Aging

New Delhi, India (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has expressed concern over the dearth of young leaders in congress party ranks. Most of the prominent men now are over 60 and some over 70. Members of parliament, composed mostly of congressmen, shared this anxiety and suggested junior ministers of state and deputy ministers be recruited and trained for future leadership. Nehru replied that some steps should be taken in the near future but did not favor the suggestion that ministers be appointed on a mass scale.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

A reader would like to know whether it is bad manners to eat while window shopping. For example, she tells me: "If we've bought some candy or nuts, would it be wrong to walk down the main street stopping to look in the windows eating some of this?"

In my opinion it would be much better to do your window shopping and then sit somewhere and eat.

Shower But No Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you think it quite suitable to be invited to a shower given for my cousin when none of us are being asked to her wedding reception? This I understand is just for the immediate families.

Answer: If none but brothers and sisters and parents are to be present it can hardly be called a reception and, therefore, it would be proper for you to go to the shower, along with her other friends.

Junior Bridesmaids

Dear Mrs. Post: Where would you say little girls who are serving as junior bridesmaids should be placed in the procession? They are too old for flower girls.

Answer: They walk between the ushers and the older bridesmaids; following the ushers up the aisle and just ahead of them on the way out of church.

Service On Train

Dear Mrs. Post: When requiring service from the porter on a train (warming the baby's milk, etc.) should he be tipped after each service or at the end of our trip?

Answer: At the end of the trip.

Engagement Rules

Dear Mrs. Post: In a recent motion picture I noticed that the bride's parents went to see the man's parents first. Shouldn't it have been the other way around?

Answer: Correctly, yes, but this is a rule with which many people are unfamiliar. There could be no great error in the bride's family going first, especially when invited.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet "E-17," "Introduction," explains how to introduce your family and friends in an easy casual way. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Smuggling Reported

Rangoon (U.P.)—Dr. Soedarsano, U.S.I. ambassador to India and Burma, said in Rangoon most of Indonesia's 20,000,000 Chinese were engaged in big scale collective smuggling between Indonesia and Malaya. "Chinese settlers in Indonesia are all traders, and ply a very active trade between the islands and Singapore and Penang," he stated. "And Malayan mer-

Isolation via Taxes

By FRANK TRIPP

The expert says it is all right to avoid taxes but illegal to evade them. To a lot of folks that's cutting the cheese pretty thin. Even some synonym books park the two words pretty close to each other, but there's a difference, as you'll find if you trifle with the tax collector.

The ad in the papers said to send in New Jersey and get your cigarettes for $1.40 a carton. At first it was even less. Believing in newspaper ads, which have saved me a lot of money, I became a ten-cent carton buyer by mail and saved four words on each shipment. I didn't sell em, I smoked 'em. I knew about the "avoid" and "evade" business all the time. When I made states, I took cigarettes and New Jersey source of supply. I first into Delaware, then into Maryland, I went along with the boys who had been accommodating me, it being their problem, not mine.

Then New York state said the practice was evading taxes. They said I was evading taxes. I meant me, but didn't care much. If I got it all I could write those effusions from a cell and my life's ambition would be accomplished. Maybe some day the American Tobacco Company would erect a shrine for me, like the newspaper fellows put up for John Peter Zenger.

"Where'd this stuff come from?" he barked.

"Stamford," says the driver. "Take it back," orders the gestapo. "All that kind of junk's got to be bought in New York—all but that thing over there that looks like a commode."

The driver says: "Well, that much is okay, but more'n that's got to be bought here and paid city tax on."

Sounds silly as all get out, doesn't it?

Well, brother, that's what happened to my cigarettes. I can't have more'n a couple days supply on hand. I can't buy in New York state; and I live six miles from the border.

If this isolation by the tax route doesn't spread to oranges and watermelons it isn't worth more fuss than just writing about it, but it struck me as a fantastic example of tax logic.

Written for NEA Service

"Isn't that the worst luck in the world?" Hard Luck Joe asked indignantly. "I'm lucky to pick up as much as two queens, and everybody who plays against me gets all the aces and kings he wants."

"Stop complaining," said East. "You had enough just then to stop the game. If you don't stop enough to make the best use of the cards you get, you have no right to complain about your luck."

Joe's face was a study in outraged innocence. He couldn't see what he had done to deserve such a rebuke.

A Joe holding the West cards, had opened the queen of hearts. Declarer properly refused the first and second tricks in that suit but was obliged to take the third heart with his ace.

He then led a small diamond from his own hand and finessed dummy's nine. This time East took the trick. East returned the queen of spades, but South won with the ace of spades, ran the diamonds, and then took the rest of his high cards, fulfilling his game contract.

Do you see what Joe could have done with the West cards to defeat declarer? Decide for yourself before you read on.

Joe's mistake occurred when declarer led diamonds for the first time. Joe should have played his ten of diamonds!

Obviously South could not afford to let Joe hold the trick with the ten of diamonds. (Joe would have been delighted to cash the rest of his hearts.)

However, if declarer took the first diamond trick in dummy, he would be able to take only three tricks in that suit. With only three hearts and two clubs, South would not have had enough tricks for his contract.

The opportunity for this sort of play occurs fairly often. When dummy has a long suit with no side entry, declarer must often give up the first trick in that suit to make sure of bringing in the rest of it.

Second hand should play high with a doubleton honor if declarer cannot afford to let him win the trick. This prevents declarer from making the ducking play that is needed to bring in the suit.

Lightning strikes upward as well as downward.

smoke cigarettes in New York state, he buys outside the state, kept by dabs, the few he might carry in. That's sort of interesting tax philosophy if you follow it through. I'm wondering how constitutional it is to tell a freeman American that he's got to buy anything, except his dog and auto license, in the state where he lives.

IF IT'S CRICKET, how about this one? A lot of cities have a city sales tax. If you don't live in such a city and have things shipped to you from there you don't have to pay the tax. New York City is one of the cities that do. Now suppose New York's mayor needs a few more millions and bids on an idea that sounds weird but has a precedent in this cigarette business.

Why couldn't the mayor put an embargo on the entrance into New York City of everything that's shipped there? A young Bronx couple getting married might have the old folks over in Stamford, Conn., buy the new furniture for their flat and save the tax. It comes by truck and just outside Yonkers a guy wearing an OD uniform and a big badge demands inspection of this stuff come from?

"Stamford," says the driver. "Take it back," orders the gestapo. "All that kind of junk's got to be bought in New York—all but that thing over there that looks like a commode."

The driver says: "Well, that much is okay, but more'n that's got to be bought here and paid city tax on."

Sounds silly as all get out, doesn't it?

Well, brother, that's what happened to my cigarettes. I can't have more'n a couple days supply on hand. I can't buy in New York state; and I live six miles from the border.

If this isolation by the tax route doesn't spread to oranges and watermelons it isn't worth more fuss than just writing about it, but it struck me as a fantastic example of tax logic.

Changes Mind Too Late

Hamburg (AP)—Screaming and shouting, a nightmarish clad man ran through the streets of Stuttgart. He had poisoned himself, but when the painful effects of the poison made themselves felt, the man changed his mind about committing suicide and ran to the doctor's. However, he arrived too late and died on the way to the hospital.

Three Are Injured In Local Mishaps

Three persons were injured slightly in three minor automobile mishaps in the city over the holiday week-end.

Hilda Armor, of West New York, N. J., suffered bruises of the left side when a U. S. Army jeep with trailer and a sedan were in collision at Broadway and Stuyvesant street Sunday.

Officers Harry Martin and Peter Camp reported at 12:52 p. m., that the jeep, operated by Pvt. Joe Knaut, and the sedan driven by Louis Krueger, of West New York, were both headed north on Broadway when they collided on wet pavement.

The jeep was towed from the scene by an army wrecker, which had been following it. The sedan was towed by a garage wrecker.

John Henry Bailey, 32, of 88 Broadway, suffered a slight head injury in a collision at Delaware avenue and Broadway Monday morning.

The police report at 9:30 a. m., said the Bailey car and a bus of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., operated by Charles E. Weeks, were headed in the same direction at the intersection with the auto behind the bus. Bailey said the bus stopped "but the brakes on his car would not work and he ran into the rear of the bus," the report said.

Edwin Howard Burch, 42, of Philadelphia, Pa., suffered a cut lip in the other slight mishap at Broadway and East Chester street Sunday morning.

The police report at 1:05 a. m., by Officer George Dougherty, said the Burch sedan was headed south on Broadway, when it was in collision with a car driven by Jack Brandow Trussell, 19, of Miami, Fla., headed north. The Trussell sedan was towed from the scene.
